we're meant to connect

PROSPECTIVE COLLABORATION INFORMATION PACK

ABOUT US

We're creating a social enterprise committed to:

- being a leader in the effort to reduce loneliness globally;
- de-stigmatising loneliness through sharing stories; and
- providing upstream support and advice about loneliness for humans before they require individual mental health support or crisis support.

Founded by Phil McAuliffe (pictured), we are a team of humans who knows that loneliness feels terrible, because we've all felt lonely. We also know that connection is the antidote to loneliness.

Using our skills, wisdom and experience, we serve, support, challenge and inspire humans to become more connected.

The human experiencing loneliness and wanting to connect is at the core of everything we do at HUMANS:CONNECTING.

We want all humans experiencing loneliness to get affordable, accessible and high-quality advice and support.

We value collaboration. We know that the global problem of loneliness and social disconnection requires diverse perspectives and voices to reach the diverse humans experiencing loneliness.

We envision a world in which:

- humans feel comfortable talking about their loneliness and their need for human connection and receiving the loneliness stories of others without judgement or seeking to fix it.
- the thoughts and feelings of loneliness and our need for authentic connection are used to get the connection we each need and deserve; and
- support to help humans move through loneliness towards the connection they need is high-quality, accessible and affordable.
